Lori's last stand

THIS IS THE WEEK for Maids, old and new. When crowns are lifted, and passed on to younger heads of state.

For all those who have contested from Livermore and Pleasanton and Dublin, the dream achieved in 1975 by Lori Hickman remains the goal for all — to serve as Maid of Alameda County, and then go on to vie for California laurels.

Maid Lori bows out tonight, in Pleasanton rites at Castlewood Country Club. Next week it will be Dublin's Maid Louise Hodges yielding her crown to a worthy successor. Livermore's Maid Teri Groshong gets to reign until the fourth day of June.

Tickets for each of these community festivities are available at the local Chamber of Commerce.

Livermore Jaycees' air show still 'up in blue' for Sunday

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Jaycees' 7th Annual Air Show is "definetly on" as of this morning but that status could change sometime within the next 36 hours.

Skip Claeson of the Jaycees told The Times last night "the key is the city's insurance carrier."

"If he says there's no problem with a static display (exhibits on the Livermore Airport grounds but no flying exhibitions) then we'll go ahead," Clason added.

However, according to Jaycees who held an emergency meeting last night, if the group is told by the city they must have $10 million in insurance coverage simply to put on the ground show, then the show is likely to be cancelled.

Presently, the show, which has had flying exhibitions at every one of its previous runs, is scheduled for this Sunday at the Livermore Municipal Airport from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Claeson said the group still does not have full coverage for a show with flying exhibitions but "we're still trying to obtain it." Jaycees believe that if they can't put on the air exhibitions along with the ground show, their income from the event "will be drastically reduced."

The insurance coverage the Jaycees need would protect both the organization and the City of Livermore from any legal action that might be taken by the performers or their heirs in the event of an accident or death.

The Jaycees already has arrangements for insurance that would protect it and the city from any damages or injuries to spectators or property. That policy has been quoted to the Jaycees at $2,400 for $10 million worth of insurance, according to Claeson.

The organization last year realized a net profit of some $4,000 from its air show but if the upcoming Sunday event is cancelled, the Jaycees stand to lose between $1,000 and $2,000 because of commitments which would have to be broken, Claeson concluded.

Crowning of Maid set tonight

PLEASANTON— Ten young women will bid for the Maid of Pleasanton tiara this evening at the annual Pageant, planned this time for the palatial Castlewood Country Club.

The evening begins with cocktails at 6:30 followed by dinner at 7:30. The Pageant, with KNBR's Mike Cleary serving as master of ceremonies, will commence at approximately 8:30.

Vying for the title held by Lori Hickman the past year are Trudi Fadden, Elise Perry, Liz Berretty, Darlyn Knauer, Lynnea Howard, Kim Wheeler, Tami Heath, Gina Shearer, Peggy Holm, and Julie Hemming.

The Pageant this year is under the direction of Judy DeHont and features a star - spangled opening number, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," with all the young women performing. Kathy Guyette will accompany.

The program includes songs by Nancy Banning, a Spanish dance by Lori Felix and a medley.

Advisory Committee

Scheppler gets chairman nod

Bob Scheppler of the Murray School community was named chairman of the Murray School District's Citizens Advisory Committee at their initial meeting Tuesday night at Frederiksen School.

The panel is charged with securing facts on the problem of housing seventh and eighth grade students and improving the curriculum for same. All data, along with possible suggestions and recommendations, will be presented to the Board of Trustees on June 15. The date may be changed, though, if committee members feel they cannot complete their studies by then.

The group will review nine options worked up by a panel of school principals and Assistant Superintendent Heinz Gewing. They are expected to consider other options and combinations of same.

These options range from remaining in the status quo to housing all seventh and eighth grade students in the district at Wells Intermediate or making another school into solely an intermediate grade facility.

Any changes, as ultimately considered and approved by the board, would not go into effect until September of 1977.

At present, Wells is the only intermediate grades school in the district while Donlon, Nielsen and Dublin have K-8 enrollments.

Committee members, each representing a school community in the district, and trustees are faced with dwindling enrollments at practically all schools save Donlon and Lydiksen. The prospect is that enrollments will continue to drop for at least another two or three years.

Residents of the Murray district not named to the committee have been encouraged to take part at meetings. The next three meetings, all starting at 7:30 p.m., will be held May 12, 19 and 26 at Frederiksen School, 7243 Tamarack Dr., Dublin.

In addition to Scheppler, Mrs. Luanne Dahl was selected as assistant chairwoman. She is from the Lydiksen School community.

Wally Moreskine, director of auxiliary services and principal at Lydiksen, is administrative liaison to the group.

VCSD hears bicentennial plans

DUBLIN — Dublin - San Ramon was officially named a bicentennial community Tuesday night when Valley Community Services District directors received the district's own American Revolution Bicentennial Commission flag.

Bob Elliott of the Dublin - San Ramon Bicentennial Committee presented the flag to President Ron Hyde, who directed VCSD staff to fly the flag in the district.

Elliott reviewed his committee's plans for the bicentennial celebration July 3-5. An 18th Century Faire is planned for those three days.

All events will be free to members of the VCSD community.

Activities on tap include an old-fashioned political oration by Congressman Pete Stark, an old fashioned sermon, a performance by a gospel choir from Oakland, slide shows, a hoe-down Saturday night complete with square dancing, and games of the period: tug of war, horseshoes, nail hammering.

People will be asked to attend in costume.

Citizens may sell wares in booths to be rented for $15. Display booths will be set up free of charge where fair-goers may observe activities typical of the period: candlemaking, soapmaking, weaving and others.

VCSD agreed to donate $500 to the effort. Earlier this week the Dublin Chamber of Commerce also donated $500. Donations from other sources amount to $200.

Elliott said the commission hopes to run the fair at a profit. He suggested the proceeds be put toward a time capsule, to be buried under Shannon Park Community Center.

The capsule would not be opened until the tri-centennial.

The Dublin Historical Preservation Association would assume the responsibility of deciding what would be placed inside the capsule.

In other action, the VCSD board decided to award the contract for fuel tank replacement at the District Treatment Plant to the second lowest bidder, Rhodes Petroleum Company, whose bid for the work was $3046.

The board bypassed the lowest bid of $3007, submitted by Martinez Petroleum, on the advice of its legal counsel.

VCSD counsel Peggy McElligott had argued that, under government code, the board is unable to enter into any contract in which one of its members may have an interest, however small.

Director Richard Fahey is employed by Martinez Petroleum. He said he would not have been an active participant in the work, nor would he have profitted financially by it.

But McElligott told the board that the law on this point was very specific, designed to avoid the "possibility of a member serving two masters."

President Hyde clearly stated that the board had found no evidence of a conflict of interest on Fahey's part. McElligott nevertheless urged the board not to award the contract to Martinez.

Director Lila Euler made the motion to award the contract to Rhodes to avoid any question of impropriety. Her motion was seconded reluctantly by Vice President Chuck Ladner who said he did so "only on the advice of counsel."

The motion passed 3 to 1. Fahey abstained; Director Ann Jolley opposed the award.

Agencies join forces to push tax boost

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — BART and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission have mended their fences in a drive to get continued support for the half-cent sales tax charged in the three - county rapid transit district

The two agreed this week to work together to amend Assemblyman John Knox' bill guaranteeing the half-cent tax and to scrap a competing piece of legislation.

Both BART and the MTC had legislation introduced into the Assembly that would continue the sales tax, but the two differed radically on the duration of the extra tax and allocation of the procedures.

In their joint effort, MTC's proposal, which would have made the tax permanent and allocated only 65 percent of the revenue to BART, has been shelved.

Instead, the two appeared yesterday before the Assembly Transportation Committee to argue for an amended Knox Bill that would extend the tax through June, 1980, and give the monies to BART through June, 1979.

Under the new proposal, the MTC must submit a "comprehensive transit plan" by June, 1977, that will "meet the crucial needs of BART, AC Transit and the San Francisco Muni."

All three face crucial operating deficits.

The amendments also would allow BART to borrow up to $15 million to meet its 1976-77 operating expenses. The loans would be based on anticipated future sales tax revenue.

The new plan side steps the 35/65 split that worried BART officials by giving the money to the rapid rail system for the next two years.

In the meantime, all Bay Area counties in MTC will hold public hearings before presenting "alternate transit financing proposals" to the legislature in 1977.

The compromise was proposed by Alameda County Supervisor Joseph Bort.

After the June, 1979, cutoff date for BART, "all three transit agencies will have an equal shot at the money," according to an MTC spokesman.

The commission also wants to change the current mandatory allocation system for state Transit Development Act (TDA) funds.

Under the MTC proposal, TDA funds would be allocated to a county on a basis of services rendered the county, not, as is done now, by population.

The commission wants "more flexibility" in allocating the funds, the spokesman said.

The amended Knox Bill first must hurdle the Transportation Committee chaired by Riverside Democrat Walter Ingalls.

No 'absentee' control

Murphy favors one valley city

Consolidation of municipal areas into one city would free the valley from the absentee government by Alameda County Board of Supervisors and allow the valley to control its own destiny, Supervisor John Murphy said yesterday.

Murphy, a candidate for re-election to the First District post on June 8, said he preferred the "one city" concept to other alternatives such as a Pleasanton - Dublin merger, Dublin incorporation, or no action at all.

"The one valley city concept is most preferable," Murphy said. "It would allow the cities to mesh their problems, work out solutions, rather than leave decisions to the almost absentee government of the Board of Supervisers to make for them."

Consolidation would increase gas tax funds and combine sales tax revenues which Murphy said would be to the valley's advantage.

"It would enable the valley to have control and a say in its own destiny," Murphy explained. "That way they could avoid battles with the supervisors over pipeline sizes or things such as New Town."

As an unincorporated area, Dublin's tax and land use decisions are made by the Board of Supervisors, with only one of the five board members directly responsible to the Dublin people. This has effectively disenfranchised Dubliners in many ways, Murphy said.

Murphy, 51, is seeking his fifth full term on the board. He was appointed in 1960, and was at that time the youngest person ever to serve on the board.

Over the years, Murphy has become known as the "champion of the rural area," but he shuns the title. "It is not a question of farmer versus the city," Murphy said.

"But I am a strong believer in property rights that have been established in the state constitution," he said. "To take away property rights is the same as taking property away."

The greatest portion of the First Supervisorial District is unincorporated & rural land. "I have to represent all areas," Murphy said. "People are being taxed out of existence. I've had grown men in this valley sit across the desk from me and cry because they can't keep up there land. Their rights are being stripped away and I have to fight for them."

Murphy said he favored the concept of open space as long as the owners of the lands are fully compensated for the property. "If the people of Berkeley or Emeryville need access to open space out here, they should pay (people in the first district) for it. But we can't rip off property rights without compensation."

Regarding the size of the valley's effluent disposal pipeline, Murphy said he favored a larger pipe than might now be needed. "I've said that the people in this valley wouldn't buy a bond issue that will forever stifle this valley if we put in too small a pipe," he said.

"It would cost very little more to put in a 33-inch pipe as opposed to a smaller one with surge ponds, and it would give us more possibilities in the future should conditions change," said Murphy. He denied that the request for a larger pipe is linked to a proposed New Town development in the Las Positas Valley.

"This New Town, Las Positas issue has become an obsession with the Livermore City Council. There has never been a proposal brought forth to build New Town. If a proposal is made there is no guarantee it will be approved. I have never looked toward providing capacity for new development," Murphy stated emphatically.

But if a proposal for growth outside the municipalities should officially surface, Murphy opposes leaving the decision up to neighboring cities.

"Cities should not have a veto power on development," he said. "This would disenfranchise people in the unincorporated areas and put them in a category where decisions are being made by people they can't reach throught the ballot box."

Murphy does not favor limiting supervisors to two terms in office. He said the decision to elect officials to multiple terms should be judged on individual merits.

Murphy's fifth re - election bid has been hassled by charges of residence irregularities and impropriety in advancing property for a south county government site. He has been called inaccessible and invisible.

For all of that, Murphy considers this election race the most "ridiculous," but hardly the most difficult.

"This race is as ridiculous as any I've ever seen," Murphy remarked. "When I attend candidate meetings, I have to educate the candidates to the role of county government as well as the public. There is never any mention of the issues. The only issue my candidates see is Murphy."

Murphy said he works an average of 60 hours a week in his capacity as supervisor. And he said it is his only full-time occupation. "I don't attend every social function. But I've had toll-free phones set up to county offices. I'm the only member of the board who maintains an office outside the Courthouse. I've never had an unlisted phone," he countered.

If no candidate receives 50 per cent of the vote on June 8, there will be a November run-off. "It would make a little better sense if it were one candidate against me," Murphy said. "It would be a more knowledgeable contest one on one. Then maybe we could talk issues rather than attacks on personality."

Youth arrested, admits to CB radio theft from auto

PLEASANTON — A 16 - year - old Valley High School student reported as a runaway was arrested and later admitted to a car theft in which approximately $200 in CB radio gear was stolen Monday.

Steven Craig Burns of Burger Court discovered his car had been burglarized Monday morning, thieves having taken his CB radio, public address system module, two microphones and a flashlight.

Police found a coat hanger near the scene they suspect was used to open the right wing window, and they also recovered a .22-caliber cartridge on the floorboard of the car. Several fingerprints were lifted from the inside of the car.

Tuesday morning, officer Craig Veteran spotted a youth he recognized as a runaway in front of Pleasanton Liquors. Veteran took the youth into custody.

Under police questioning, the juvenile admitted committing the burglary and told police they could find the stolen equipment in a Burger Court home.

The youth was detained as a runaway while the burglary investigation continues.

Three juveniles arrested in vandalism attack

LIVERMORE — Three young boys were arrested Monday after they confessed to vandalizing the roof of Emma C. Smith School Sunday.

Police reported that the youths admitted tearing about 30 shingles from the roof, after which they scrapped tar from the surface and threw it into a school sink. School authorities estimated damage at about $80.

The youths, two 10-year-old Sonoma School students and a 9-year-old Emma C. Smith pupil, were released to their parents.

Hexcel burglary averted by employe

LIVERMORE — A juvenile suspected of attempting to rob Hexcel offices on Trevarno Road Tuesday was surprised by an employe in the midst of the heist, police reported yesterday.

Technician Donald Voth told police he entered the building to begin the graveyard shift late Monday when he encountered a young man standing in the corner of the office.

When Voth asked him what he was doing, the youth replied, "Looking for Les." Voth said that Les worked the day shift and wasn't there, so the youth thanked him and left.

Later, an employe noticed several items including a calculator, gloves, pens, and flashlight piled on a cloth on the floor. He then noticed the cupboards had also been tampered with, and called police.

Entrance had also been made into a rear storage shed, with a loudspeaker reported missing. Police lifted one fingerprint from the scene.

Engineer Les Henry told police he knew no one fitting the youth's description. Police theorize the thief saw Henry's name on office papers while rummaging through desks.

The suspect is described as about 17 years old, slender, clean - shaven, with short black hair, and standing about five feet seven inches tall.

The investigation is continuing.

Don't tempt thieves

"When I reached my cottage, I was astonished and indignant to find that somebody had entered it in my absence.

"Boxes had been pulled out from under the bed, the curtains disarranged, the chairs drawn out from the wall. Even my study had not been safe from this rough intruder, for the prints of a heavy foot were plainly visible on the ebony-black carpet. I am not a patient man at the best of times; but this invasion and systematic examination of my household effects stirred up every drop of gall in my composition."

Even the legendary Sherlock Holmes was the victim of a burglary, and expressed outrage typical of a modern - day homeowner who just discovered a similar break-in and theft.

Holmes was unprepared for such indignation, but today's homeowner need not be.

More than 30 per cent of the items stolen in Livermore last year were recovered by police, but many of the items had to be auctioned off to the public, simply because they couldn't be traced back to their original owners.

Operation ID is a community - based program wherein electronic engraving pens are loaned by police or other agencies to citizens for the purpose of permanently inscribing identifying marks on valuables.

Authorities recommend that driver's license numbers be used, since a master list of social security numbers is nearly impossible to obtain. License numbers are unique, and a permanent list is maintained in computer files easily called up through terminals located in most police stations. Even if an individual moves to another state, his name remains in the file for reference.

Determine which items you wish protected. The list is endless, but should include televisions, radios, stereo systems (each separate component), cameras and accessories, typewriters, calculators, tape recorders, musical instruments, guns, tools, appliances — in short, anything you can't afford to lose.

Mark each item as near the manufacturer's serial number (if present) as possible. This is usually located on a small metal plate on the back of electronic equipment, or near the backside of unserialized property.

After the engraving is completed, make two copies of a master list of all marked valuables. Include article name, manufacturer's serial number, model number, date of purchase, and original cost of each item. Keep one copy of the list filed at home, and put the other in a bank safe deposit box.

To protect such items as silver holloware, antiques, heirlooms or keepsakes, take color photographs of the items with the owner pictured. Keep a master list of such articles in the safe deposit box, and copy this information onto the back of each picture with a felt - tip marker.

After marking or photographing valuables, return the engraving pen to police. They will give you window stickers warning potential burglars that valuables in your house are marked for ready identification by police.

Burglars caught with marked property are more easily convicted in court than those apprehended possessing items not identifiable. Anyone possessing an item that has its serial number or other identifying mark scratched out is guilty of a crime, also.

Engraving pens are available free on a loan basis from the Livermore and Pleasanton police stations, the San Ramon Homeowners Association, and the Valley Community Services District office in Dublin.

If you don't drive, the Department of Motor Vehicles will issue a non - driver's identification card with a number unique to you.

For more information, call the Livermore DMV office at 447-5400.

Inventory forms and warning decals are available at local police stations.

Man arrested in area theft

FREMONT — A 26 - year - old Union City man arrested here Tuesday has been connected with at least one burglary it the valley, police said yesterday.

Jesse Silva was booked Tuesday in Fremont on suspicion of burglary. A $30,000 - bail burglary warrant issued by Pleasanton police was served on Silva yesterday.

Pleasanton police detective Jim Balch, who supplied information that led to Silva's arrest, said the warrant was based on a witnesses' descriptions of the suspect, his car and license plate number obtained at the scene of an Evans Street residential burglary in Livermore recently.

Balch said the suspect was the subject of an air search by police helicopter of residential areas in Livermore two weeks ago. Police have information to suspect that the suspect is connected to other burglaries in Livermore, Pleasanton, Dublin and Fremont.

The investigation by Pleasanton, Livemore and Fremont authorities will continue.

The propositions

Legal bingo on the ballot

Editor's Note: The June 8 primary ballot will include 15 propositions on which Californians must vote. This is the third article in The Times' review, based on Associated Press reports, of the four bond measures, ten constitutional amendments and one voter initiative that make up the 15 propositions.

BINGO — PROP. 9 would exclude bingo games conducted for charitable purposes from the constitutional prohibition against lotteries. If Prop. 9 is enacted by voters, the legislature will be allowed to give cities and counties authority to legalize or continue to prohibit church bingo games.

Churches have been conducting bingo games for years, but there have been relatively few prosecutions. Supporters say this measure simply repeals an unenforced law and gets local police off the spot.

Foes say legalized bingo would be a corrupting influence, opening the door for gambling interests and organized crime.

"A No vote will discourage other forms of legalized gambling from entering California. A no vote will create a better moral environment to raise families," the opponents say in the ballot argument.

Backers of the bingo measure say that argument misses the point that bingo would be limited by law to charitable groups.

But foes say a church might be talked into lending its name to a commercial bingo operator for a small sponsor's fee, opening the door for big time commercial lotteries in California.

DEPOSITS — PROP. 8 would amend the constitutional provision which says public funds may be deposited in any bank in the state to allow deposits in either banks or savings and loan associations.

Backers say that allows taxpayers to get the benefit of the higher interest rates paid by savings and loan associations. They also say it would have the end effect of making more money available for loans for construction, thereby helping that industry.

Only one member of either house of the legislature to vote against putting Prop. 8 on the ballot.

Garamendi says the measure really won't help the construction industry because state funds are normally deposited only for short periods of time. That is of little help to institutions which write 20 to 40 year home and construction loans.

BONDS — PROP. 10 would allow the legislature, by two-thirds vote, to issue general obligation bonds to pay off, or refinance, existing bonds.

Backers include the state's top two fiscal officers, Treasurer Jesse Unruh and Director of Finance Roy Bell.

They say Prop. 10 would save taxpayers money by allowing them to take advantage of lower interest rates when they are available, which they say is impossible if they have to wait up to two years to submit the new bond issue to voters.

They say in all cases the new bonds would only substitute for existing bond measures and could only be used for projects approved by voters.

Opponents say Prop. 10 is really an attempt to expand the power of the legislature at the expense of voters, and that the purpose of refinancing is to delay payment.

They say they simply don't believe there will be any opportunities to refinance at lower interest rates.

INTEREST — PROP. 12 would exempt a wide range of loans to businesses from provisions of the state constitution which prohibits interest rates in excess of 10 per cent.

There are already numerous exemptions in the interest rate ceiling, and this one specifies that it is for non - personal, non - family, non - household purposes, or exclusively business loans.

It is supported by business and labor groups, who say California is losing $3 billion in business capital and up to 200,000 jobs a year because the 10 percent ceiling makes it harder to get loans.

Foes say Prop. 12, although not directly affecting consumer loans, chips away at the usury law protections for consumers, and that the higher interest rates eventually come out of the consumers' pockets.

REWORDING — PROP. 14 is one of a series of measure proposed by the California Constitution Revision Commission to clarify and shorten the language of the state constitution. It renumbers some existing sections of the constitution and makes minor changes in language.

Prop. 14 is the only measure on the ballot this year to win unanimous approval of both houses of the state legislature and to go on the ballot without any formal opposition.

Fireworks sale okayed

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Decrying "half - thought - out" legislation from the state capital that "preempts" the county's ordinance, the board of supervisors this week narrowly approved a measure that allows the sale — but not the use — of fireworks in unincorporated areas.

The board turned down a plea by nearly a dozen fire chiefs from cities across the county who claimed the state legislation is "totally ridiculous."

Instead, they accepted the ruling of county counsel Richard Moore who said recent state legislation forces counties to allow the sale of "safe and sane" fireworks, but to outlaw their use if it presents a hazard.

Hayward Fire Chief Matthew Jiminez called the law "totally ridiculous" and urged the county to challenge it in court.

"The law is ambiguous," he said, and "permissive legislation" that allows the county the option of prohibiting the sale if a local danger warrants it.

Not so, countered Moore. The state only grants latitude in the use of fireworks, not their sale. He said he talked with legislative counsel before rendering his opinion.

Jiminez, garnering sympathy from nearly all supervisors, said it would take more men to administer and inspect the fireworks' stands and increase the departments' costs.

"If the (state) law provides for it, let the State Fire Marshal issue the permit. I want no part of it," said north county supervisor Tom Bates.

But that, countered board chairman Fred Cooper, would mean "no county regulation."

Any county restrictions contained in the ordinance would be "housekeeping," charged Bates. "Since the state preempted us, they should take the responsibility."

Trying later to point out what he called the "absurdity" of the state's position, Bates moved to allow the use of fireworks.

But the same 3-2 majority that passed the ordinance killed Bates' second move.

The ordinance requires a sign posted prominently warning buyers that the use of fireworks still is prohibited.

It also requires a $100 damage deposit and an as yet undetermined sellers' license fee.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE VALLEY, PLEASANTON TIMES

Gerri Gibson, Joni Schuld make light work of shoveling sand around giant tractor tires at Almond School's creative playground.

Tires top with kids

LIVERMORE — How do you use 162 tires to stop playground fights?

You do what parents at Almond Avenue School are doing — use the tires in a "creative playground" all the kids can enjoy!

Next Saturday, the finishing touches will be put on a playground that was three years in being built. But already the children swarm over the equipment that is in place for them to enjoy — a circular swing of tires strung together, a tire "mountain" and some firemen's sliding poles.

Soon there will be a tire bridge leading up to a redwood deck from which the children can survey the grassy expanses of orchard and park that surround their modern school at the eastern edge of town.

Two creative playgrounds, one for primary children and one for those in intermediate grades, are inviting, vandal - proof and — well, not exactly cheap. It cost the Parent - Teacher Group some $2,200 to buy chains, bolts, redwood decking, sliding poles and telephone poles (they didn't want to wait out a long list for free used ones so they bought some direct from a supplier.)

Somebody tried to vandalize the brand - new playground by setting fire to the tires. But damage was not hopeless — the singed tires were turned over, filled with sand and used in another phase of the design.

A relatively small number of parents, disappointingly, found time in their weekends for the back-breaking work of setting up the playground. Some of the most vigorous work was put in by Gus and Gloria Olsen, PTG presidents last year; Jim and Gerri Gibson, PTG heads this year; and Eric and Jean Schuler.

Almond principal Ivan Rose turned out at a work day last month and brought the rain with him — the workers were routed by a downpour.

Third grade teacher Arlene Webster has been documenting the playgrounds' growth in pictures.

Tom Wilbur, a heavy - duty equipment operator, brought in some machines to push dirt around and lift some huge, donated tractor tires into place.

The PTG traveled all the way to San Francisco three years ago to collect ideas for their playgrounds. The next job was raising money and asking for donations of materials and labor.

It's been a long three years, but the playgrounds are almost finished now.

"And it's all worth while," Gerri Gibon notes, "when you see how the kids swarm over the equipment and how much they love it."

— by Pat Kennedy

The Continental Army, on July 31, 1777, commissioned the Marquis de Lafayette as a major general. The 20-year-old French nobleman served the American forces at his own expense. Because of the courage and valor he demonstrated during the Revolutionary War, Lafayette became a symbol of Franco-American friendship and a great American hero, The World Almanac notes.

VMH part of Hospital Week

LIVERMORE — Valley Memorial Hospital will join the nation's 7000 hospitals in observing National Hospital Week beginning Sunday May 9.

The theme for the celebration, "Happy Birthday, America!," emphasizes hospitals' efforts to to help and encourage individuals to stay healthy.

Two special programs will highlight the week - long events, presented to the public as a community service in the Cove Building behind VMH.

"Oh, My Aching Back!" will be given Wednesday, May 12 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Dr. Robert Steiner, orthopedic surgeon, will discuss back problems. Ann Emery, registered physical therapist, will explain the proper techniques for lifting.

Films and X-rays will illustrate the program.

Thursday, May 13 a program entitled "What to Do in an Emergency" will be presented from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

A panel composed of an emergency room physician, a member of the Livermore Fire Department, and Dr. Bruce Gach, pediatrician, will discuss emergency care, life saving techniques and children's accidents.

Demonstrations will be given of CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) and the Heimlich Maneuver, an emergency procedure for choking victims.

A film on CPR, "The Pulse of Life," will also be shown.

Throughout the week a collection of antique baby feeders and medical memorabilia will be displayed in the hospital main lobby. The collection is on loan from Ronald Rinard, a member of the VMH Family Medical Center's Advisory Board.

Other events during Hospital Week include the last session the Monday night "Heart Attack" mini - course co-sponsored by VMH and Chabot College Valley Campus.

A third grade class at Rincon School will tour the hospital on Tuesday and a Bluebird group will tour the hospital on Wednesday.

Ceremonies will be held Thursday to honor volunteers and employes receiving service awards.

Auxiliary events include a luncheon on Monday and special displays in store windows throughout the valley and at the Family Medical Center in San Ramon.

Individuals wishing to schedule a tour of the hospital or the Center may call 447-7000, extension 152, for information.

Bicentennial dreaming

Kindergarteners in Gloria Conover's class at Almond Avenue School, Livermore, are having red, white and blue dreams this spring as they take turns sleeping under a "Bicentennial quilt" they all helped make. Each child, working at home with his mother, stitched one square depicting himself. The squares were quilted onto a background of patriotic colors. Shown with the quilt are Carri Ann Van Cleave, Andrea Jackson, Jon Callesen and David Gormanzano. (Times photo)

'Mountain' maneuver at Dublin

DUBLIN — "D" Company of the 864th Engineering Battalion stationed at Camp Parks is holding "maneuvers" on the erstwhile "mountain" at Dublin High School.

At least in a manner of speaking they are!

The Engineers have attacked "Dublin Mountain," a 20,000 cubic yard mass of top soil deposited behind the swimming pool when the school was built seven years ago.

The "mountain" has been a weed and fire hazard and an attraction for bikers who tear across playing fields and up its sides. Its presence has blocked use of a large potential playing area. The cost of removing the mountain, $80,000, was beyond consideration against tight budgets and higher educational priorities.

Now, as a training exercise, men who can move mountains, the 864th Engineers are relocating the dirt to usable locations on campus. They will build and shape five-foot high spectator mounds between the soccer fields and tennis courts and parallel to the first base lines of each baseball field.

They will fill low areas of the practice fields and extend the play area west of the football stadium for community use and possible intramurals. An earth backstop will be developed for the archery range and a bump will be laid to keep cars off the playing fields.

Where "Dublin Mountain" is now, there will be a much needed softball field for school and community use.

The project started May 3. The 864th is commanded by Capt. John M. Gates. His operations officer is Lt. Chaufty. The project officer, Lt. Hyndman, will be assisted by staff Sgt. Choate on the site.

The contractor on the project will be finished moving his portion of the dirt to the new Valley Community Services District playing fields by May 16. The Army contingent will return May 17 or 18 to begin their part of the earth relocation.

Key Lab energy man speaks to CIVITAN

Dr. Glenn Werth, associated director for Energy and Resource Planning of the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory will be the guest speaker at the CIVITAN breakfast Friday at 7:30 a.m. at Castlewood Country Club.

Dr. Werth is responsible for assessing the Nation's and California's energy needs. This activity at the laboratory was started in 1971 by Dr. Werth and is responsible for much of the Laboratory's diversification into the energy research field.

'Down zoning' in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — This community has begun the process of "down zoning" which could lead to a change in land use for parcels once ticketed for commerce and high - density residential.

In action this week, the city council agreed to place a half - dozen such parcels into "Study Districts" and thus open the way for rezoning that could come within 90 days.

Included is the hilltop ground at Sunol and Pico boulevards that had once been eyed by Alameda County for a the Valley's new administrative center. The city was never enthused with that choice, and the parcel has since been dropped from county consideration.

Also placed in the Study District was the controversial "Longview" tract above Foothill Road; another "residential" parcel on the south side of Foothill Road, just west of Bernal; the vacant ground at Vineyard and Pico; the large piece just north of the Sports Park, east of Hopyard Road; and portions of Rose Avenue.

The moves are all part of the council's new "Growth Management Plan," a city spokesman explained. The city must act within 90 days to rezone any or all of the Study District parcels, or else return them to their prior zoned status.

In other business this week, the council put off until May 11 the final set of interviews leading to an appointment to the Pleasanton Planning Commission.

Stock winner

Jill Allnutt of Walnut Creek won the Stock Seat Medal at the Junior Grand National Horse Show in the Cow Palace. Kathy Reid of Livermore presented the award. Norm's Barber Shop of Pleasanton was the sponsor.

Festival sets 'Town Criers'

PLEASANTON — Among the many features of the two-day Heritage Festival scheduled May 15 and 16 at Amador Valley Community Park will be Town Criers, as portrayed by Pleasanton school students.

The festival will have a potpourri of arts and crafts exhibits, booths, antique cars, a variety of foods to choose from and stage entertainment by various cultural groups.

The Town Criers will be fifth through 12th grade students at Amador Valley High, Foothill High, Harvest Park, Pleasanton, Alisal and Donlon schools.

Each will give 3 to 5-minute presentations at the stage area in Town Crier fashion, each one being assigned a specific period in the Nation's history. Most of the students will be dressed in costumes appropriate to the era they will be heralding.

For the high school students, who'll "cry out" the headlines of the 1900s thru 1976, the wearing apparell will be more contemporary.

They will give their presentations at approximately 45 - minute intervals throughout Saturday and Sunday in the stage area.

A meeting for all 16 students who'll be Town Criers has been set for Monday afternoon at 3:15 p.m. in the seventh grade pod at Harvest Park School on Valley Avenue.

Stirring Words

It is possible that the philosophical expression which was uttered by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympic Games — "The main issue in life is not victory but the fight, the essential is not to have won but to have fought well" — may have done much to encourage the development of sportsmanship awards in athletics.

'Backstage' models work speedily to assemble a complete outfit and accessories for show (left). 'Onstage' Pauline is charming and in control.

Pauline's stunning Indian-motif gown is hand-painted. The straps cross at the back in the new 'bare shoulders' look.

By JEAN McKENNA

It could be a Paris salon of high couture or a premiere show at Bonwit Teller's in New York. When the models appear — flawlessly made-up, head erect, eyes shining, body limber — the drama, the glamour, the excitement are the same.

The setting is actually the dining room of the Emperor's Garden Restaurant in Livermore on a Thursday afternoon during the lunchtime rush. Here a parade of fashions from Annette's Ladies Apparel and After-Five shops is a weekly event. (The same show takes the stage at the Livermore Holiday Inn Restaurant Wednesdays at noon.)

The glamourous mannequins are three Livermore housewives, one a grandmother, all with past experience in fashion modeling. Together, Pauline Maxon, Linda Clark and Jesse Simnowitz represent three different body types, age groups and "styles."

The qualities they share in common are exceptional good looks, a graceful carriage and bouncing step, acting ability worthy of an Oscar, fashion - consciousness — and a way with people. It's the personal touch, the face-to-face encounter that makes their job much more challenging than ramp modeling.

The Times' reporter and photographer followed the show from "backstage" to "onstage" on a day when Linda was forced to pull out because her daughter had broken a leg, and the Lions Club was occupying the banquet room which usually serves as a dressing room for the models.

Short one performer, and crowded into the tight quarters of the "ladies room," Pauline and Jesse may have been tense. But they unbagged and carefully assembled eight complete outfits AND accessories with quick efficiency. They must be prepared for the unexpected — a missing scarf, a torn stocking — because the show begins at noon.

The unexpected often greets them as they pass, one by one, through the restaurant, stopping at each table to describe the outfit, its material, its designer, and its cost.

The models must compete for the attention of the diner who may be absorbed in the Egg Foo Yung on his plate. (They disturb no one who has not expressed an interest in seeing the show.) Dodging a passing waitress, with grace, they must somehow find an answer to such comments as — Why are you so skinny? Why don't you just forget the clothes and talk to us! I hate to say this, but you looked better in the first dress you wore!

Pauline, a sleek 97 pounds (I starve myself and dance to keep fit), is spunky and vivacious when modeling. She dons a one-piece bathing suit with daring, and eludes ungentlemanly passes with agility and tact. She is responsible for choosing costumes and accessories for the weekly show, and commentates fashion shows for other organizations on occasion.

Jesse, a tall and stately matron with "class," is cool and sophisticated. She wears a flowing, Eva Gabor-style gown with plunging decollete confident that her look rivals that of the great Eva herself.

PHOTOGRAPHY by LILLY AULT

Pauline avoids a collision with waitress with the agility of an acrobat. Misplaced advances by members of the male audience are likewise foiled.

AV swimmers gain title tie

DON SWIMMER GIVES ALL-OUT EFFORT AGAINST COWBOYS.
John Gilbert aids Amador win over Livermore.

Livermore swimming coach Curt Altschul loaded his guns yesterday with hopes of upsetting powerful Amador Valley, but the Dons came up with a crucial win in the 100 breast to clinch a 93-79 victory over the 'Pokes and a share of the EBAL swimming title.

"I thought we could win the meet," said Altschul, who brought up swimmers from frosh-soph to try and gain some important places." There were a couple of events that went against us." A superior effort from diver Dave Potts and two individual firsts by Brian Story keyed the triumph. Potts garnered a school record 253.1 points in the diving, while Story came through in the 100 fly (57.9) and 100 breast (64.3) to insure the Don victory.

Paul Lohmann continued to display his excellent swimming. The 'Poke junior won the 200 individual medley in 2:08.1, while taking the 100 back in a fine 59.6.

Perhaps the most impressive display of the afternoon occurred in the day's final event, the 400 free relay. After Amador built up a slim lead through the first three legs, Lohmann clocked a 50.9 split to give Livermore the victory by one-tenth of a second. The 'Pokes first three swimmers were Jim Happe, Joe Byrne and Jim Volponi.

The Dons opened up the meet with an impressive victory in the 200 medley relay. The team of Matt Pearson, Story, Paul Morton and Mark Allen finished in 1:47.8.

Allen also took the 50 free in 24.4, finishing ahead of Morton and Livermore's Glenn McFarlane.

The 'Pokes took six out of eleven events. Jim Volponi swam a lifetime best in the 500 freestyle, finishing in 5:08.4. Dan Knauer finished second for the Dons, while the 'Pokes Russ Hastings, usually a frosh-soph swimmer, picked up an important third place.

After the 100 back event was completed, the Dons held a slim 8-point lead of 77-65. But Wilton Machado edged out the 'Pokes' Brian Hickman in the 100 breast for third place to cinch the win, giving the Dons an 87-71 advantage.

"I expected them to do that," Altschul said of the Dons' 1-3 finish in the 100 breast. "I expected a first and second in the 200 individual medley." Lohmann picked up a first, but Amador's Bill Burns edged out Dan Swanson for second place.

Happe won the 200 freestyle for Livermore, edging out the Dons' ace Bruce Parraguirre in 1:53.7.

The Amador frosh-soph team manhandled the undermanned 'Pokes, 127-34.

Greg Moore, Robert Magoon and Rick Bota each had two individual firsts in the lopsided victory.

Matt Bishop took the diving competition, totaling 156.5 points. Kevin Santin won the 100 individual medley in 1:08.5 as the Dons took first place in every event.

The medley relay team of Santin, Magoon, Bota and Leonard Baine won in 2:03.3, while the 400 freestyle relay squad of Moore, Leer, Santin and Baine took first in 4:14.6.

Suns top Warriors

OAKLAND (AP) — The play of Paul Westphal and Ricky Sobers, the starting Phoenix guards, paced the Suns to a 108-101 victory over the Golden State Warriors Wednesday night and evened their National Basketball Association semifinal playoff series at one game apiece.

The Suns led most of the way despite the continued hot shooting of the Warriors' Rick Barry, who scored 44 points to make his total 82 for two games. But Barry had very little scoring help.

Gael swimmers rally, defeat California

After faltering early in the program, Dublin High School's swimming team consistently outscored California to take a dual meet season - ending 92-78 decision from the host Grizzlies in San Ramon.

Cal built a slim lead after three races, only to have a win by the Gaels' Mark Steinhauff in the 50-yard freestyle tie the meet. A 2-3 showing in diving put Dublin ahead to stay.

Steinhauff was the top individual performer for Dublin winning the 50 in 24.0, the 100-yard freestyle in 50.8 and swimming a leg for the Gaels victorious 200 medley relay team.

Jay Jones was outstanding for Cal, winning the 200-yard individual medley in 2:10.3 and the 100-yard backstroke in 1:01.

Dublin's colorful specialty stroker Victor Hinojosa came within two seconds of three winning efforts. After swimming on the 200 medley relay team, Hinojosa came back to win the 100-yard butterfly in 58.3.

He missed in the 100-yard breaststroke however, when Cal's Raymond Alonso came up with a lifetime best of 1:07. Hinojosa was second in 1:08.2.

Stew Burke earned two places in addition to his share of the opening relay win. He was second in the 100 back at 1:05.8 and third in the 200 IM at 2:29.2.

Two other Dublin swimmers placed in two events.

Glenn Hoxie won the 500 free easily with a 5:26 clocking, but was seven seconds back of Cal's Mike Murphy in the 200-yard freestyle. Kevin McKenna was a close second in the 200 IM and was just six - tenths of a second behind Hinojosa to get third in the 100 Breast.

Murphy, whose winning time in the 200 was 1:51.2, also finished second in the 100 free with a time identical to Steinhauff's, to lead a trio of Cal double placers.

Jeff Jones placed in a pair of freestyle events. He was second in the 50-yard event at 25.1 and third in the 100, clocking a 57.8.

Jeff Fredericks took two thirds. He finished the 100-yard butterfly in 1:07.5 and the 200 free in 2:10.4.

EER EXPLAINED.

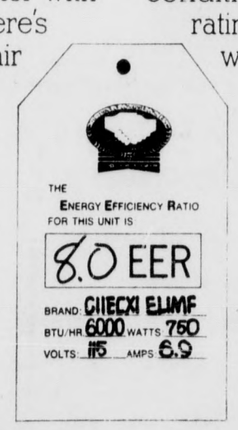
The easy way to figure out how to get the most efficient air conditioner for your money.

We're not encouraging you to buy a new or replacement air conditioner. But if you do, then get a unit that will give you the most cooling with the least electric use. That's an air conditioner with a high EER (Energy Efficiency Ratio). Here's how you determine the EER of a room air conditioner.

EER Simplified: All the information you need is shown on the unit. To get the EER, simply divide the cooling capacity (BTU/hr) by the watts. Like this: 6,000 BTU/hr ÷ 750 watts = 8.0 EER. EER numbers range from 4½ to 12. The higher the EER, the more efficient the air conditioner. PG&E recommends an EER of 7.5 or more for economy in room air conditioners, and an EER of 7 or more for central systems.

EER Simpler Yet: Air conditioner dealers displaying the "We Care" sign have room air conditioners already tagged with the EER rating. So look for the yellow tag and you won't have to do any figuring at all.



What a high EER means to you: A high EER means you're getting the most cooling comfort for your money. Some air conditioners use a lot less electricity than others for the same amount of cooling. A unit with an EER of 8.0, for example, uses 30% less electricity than one with an EER of 5.6. So look for a high EER. You'll cut your cooling costs. And you'll conserve energy, too.

Wolf swimmers dunk MV

Monte Vista High, which has never had a respectable swimming program to compete in a league dominated by schools and swimmers who rate with the East Bay's best, completed a winless East Bay Athletic League season by losing to San Ramon yesterday in Danville.

Final score was a blistering 126-38.

The Wolves, a team composed mainly of top - rate underclassmen, won every event, including sweeps in five of the 12.

Despite the awful flogging the meet's only double winners were Timm Torchiana and Davitt Cunningham, both freshmen. Torchiana won the 50 and 100-yard freestyles in 24.5 and 54.5. Cunningham, meanwhile sped to wins in the 200-yard individual medley and 500-yard freestyle. His time in the former was a reasonable 2:10.2.

The Wolves' Billy MacDonald achieved a first in the 200-yard freestyle, before coming back to anchor the Wolves' 400-yard freestyle team to a 3:42.4 clocking. MacDonald was timed in 2:01.8 in the former.

The Mustangs, meanwhile, received two second places from Steve Czekalla. Czekalla was runner-up in the 200-yard individual medley and 500-yard freestyle.

Also contributing to San Ramon's victory were Dave Ditzel, Chris Williamson and Tom Horner.

Ditzel won the 100-yard backstroke at 1:05.3 and was a part of the 200-yard medley relay team. Williamson was second in the 100-yard butterfly and 100-yard breaststroke. Horner won the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:09.3.

San Ramon also won the junior varsity, 88-20. The Wolves' Bill Dueros collected back - to - back wins in the 100-yard freestyle and 50-yard butterfly.

San Ramon closed the varsity campaign with a 5-2 record and the Mustangs were 0-7.

Ace hurdlers meet today

Dublin High School track star Chuck Gangnuss has some high goals this season and he hopes to approach them today when the Gaels host Granada in a East Bay Athletic League meet at 3 p.m.

"I hope to run 14.0 in the 120-yard high hurdles and 37.5 in the 330-yard lows this year," the 6-2, 180 pound junior transfer from Antioch said yesterday. "I'm looking to go under 38 flat tomorrow."

The main reason Gangnuss is confident of running some fast times against the Matadors is because he'll be racing against Granada's Scott Campbell, another classy hurdler.

Gangnuss has run 14.5 in the highs and 38.3 in the lows this year while Campbell has run 14.7 (three times) and 38.9.

Both runners hope to compete at the Fresno Relays tomorrow. There will be prep competition in the highs but not the lows.

Some of the top competitiors at Fresno will include Tom Bobartz of Serramonte (Daly City) who has run 13.8 twice, Wendall Tyler of Balboa of San Francisco (14.1) and possibly Keith Harris of Oakland (14.2).

Gangnuss has improved rapidly this year. Last season he usually ran the 80-yard highs in frosh - soph competition. He had a best time of 8.8. His top 120-highs time was 15.3.

"I guess the main reason for my improvement this year is the fact I'm gradually getting stronger," Gangnuss said. "I've run a lot of 330-yard dashes in practice. If I can get my starts to improve my times will get better."

Gangnuss has also run 9.9 in the 100-yard dash and competes on the Gael 440-yard relay team which has a 43.8 best.

Granada coach John Sai feels Campbell can do 14.4 and 38.0 this season.

"Campbell's top asset is his form," Sai said. "He doesn't have that much speed."

Campbell will also compete in the mile relay and triple jump against the Gaels. He has a best leap of 42-3 in the latter event.

Sai also has high hopes for miler Scott Kusko. Kusko has run a 4.28 mile and 10.01.0 two-mile this year.

"I'm hoping Kusko can get down to the low 4:20s," Sai said. "From now on he'll run just the mile."

In other EBAL meets today California is at Amador, Foothill travels to Livermore and San Ramon tangles with host Monte Vista. San Ramon, Livermore and Amador are tied for the loop lead.

Saints win

A six-run last inning rally by the Allied Brokers Rinky Dinks fell short and the Valley Realty Saints held on for a 13-12 win Monday in Pleasanton Bobby Sox Softball Major League action.

Debbie Stromer had a double and two RBIs for the Saints and Susan Healey added two hits. For the losers, Lisa Lamski and Julie Moore each had a pair of hits.

The Flowers and Things Powder Puffs crushed the Sundance Kids of LaFemme, 22-13, as Wendy Beherbaum homered twice and drove in five runs. Dawne Lamas had a double and also drove in five runs.

ARTBEAT

By RON McNICOLL

Sometimes there are issues greater than the valley which touch on the valley. Such an issue is the one I intend to bring before my fellow writers in the recently-organized Valley Writers Circle.

We are privileged with our free expression in that circle and have published our work beyond it. Mihajlo Mihajlov, a Yugoslav writer, has published his works beyond his small circle, too, but with bad consequences.

He is a democratic Socialist in a country which is Socialist but not very democratic. He published work critical of his government in the Western press and he is in jail because of this. The president of the country, Josef Tito, said that Mihajlov must remain in jail until 1982.

I never read anything by Mihajlov, but it doesn't make any difference what he writes. The principle is that he should be allowed to publish whatever he has to say.

I ask Times readers, writers of letters to the editor, anyone who is interested in free expression, to write to President Tito, Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, BLVD, Oktobarske Revolucije, BR 92, Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Ask for his release, but say it in a nice way, the way you would to any jailer.

You might also put in a good word for Srdja Popovic, who is serving a year in prison for saying things the government didn't want him to say. Popovic is Mihajlov's attorney.

You might also address a copy to the Yugoslv ambassador, the Honorable Toma Granfil, Ambassador of Yugoslavia, 2410 California St., NW, Washington, D.C.

Does this do any good? Another writer, Dragoljub Ignjatovic, was released before the end of a three-year sentence because of this type of letter writing campaign organized by International Poets, Editors and Novelists.

Are there any risks? I don't know. I organized a committee of valley writers a year ago to write to the Soviet Union on behalf of Poet Joseph Maramzin. He was arrested for "publishing anti-Soviet works" — his own — on the day he picked up his visa papers for emigration to Israel. We never got a reply to our letter and I have not heard about his fate since then. I suppose if the Russians win World War III, I'm in big trouble.

Trouble or not, I was moved to write a poem about Mihajlov's plight. "The Prisoner" is a poem dedicated to the release of Mihajlov and that of thousands more, including myself.

Strict rules are made to be interpreted strictly therefore the poet loses his typewriter at the slightest act of charity and his life, the open wound, closes.
It's all right, though.
Electricity flows to the light bulb, and behind it powerful trees bend in the forest
where the rains keep them as a dam against the last day of the world.
Down on the wharf beyond the prison,
even the groggiest sailors are waking up with the new dawn, trying to feel their way
like the centipedes' hundred legs that have stroked the cell wall for years.

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Thursday, May 6, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're reasonably lucky today but you shouldn't push your luck. It's not one of those times when you'll get something for nothing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll have to look out for your own interests today. No one else is likely to do it for you. Be completely self-reliant.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone may tell you something confidential today about a mutual friend. The information could be distorted. Check the facts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) To avoid a problem with a friend over money today, clarify the share of expenses each is to pay. Don't grab the entire tab.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Usually you're good at mixing business with pleasure, but today that formula won't jell. Don't try for a big deal over dinner and drinks.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a tendency today to talk a little too much about matters that should be confidential. Confiding in the wrong person might spoil something for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful in doing business with a friend today, or both of you may feel you've been taken advantage of. Be fair, but also be practical.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov.22) Today, appraise your opposition realistically. Don't get involved in something where the odds are stacked against you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) To get the most out of people who are working for or with you today, let them function with a minimum amount of direction.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't gamble today on someone whom you know from experience has a very poor record of success. Backing this person could prove costly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today it may be easier for you to make promises than to keep them. Think twice before committing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Trying shortcuts with your work could backfire today. Don't experiment with new twists if an old one is working fine.

Your Birthday

May 6, 1976

This year you may be able to make that change or improvement in your residence you've been thinking about. Also, more of your activities will be centered around your family and relatives.

Opening lead — 3 ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If today's hand were played in any duplicate anywhere the chances are that every declarer would play three notrump and make either four or five odd depending on whether or not he lost a heart trick.

Nevertheless it did cause a real argument at one table in Dallas. South won the spade lead in his own hand, cashed his ace of clubs, led the 10 of clubs to dummy's king and a third club. He lost that trick and the ace of diamonds to wind up with a tie for top but his partner said, "You played the clubs wrong."

That started the fight and we were appealed to.

We hate to decide in favor of a partner who criticizes success, but South did not play the clubs the best way. He should have won the first spade in dummy and led a club to his 10. With clubs breaking 3-3 it didn't matter which way he played the suit. But had they broken 4-2 as they do some 48½ per cent of the time, he would only have scored four club tricks if one opponent held the doubleton queen-jack. The correct play would produce four club tricks against many more combinations.

Ask the Jacobys

A Carolina reader wants to know the way to bid: ♠ x ♥ K Q x x x ♦ K Q 10 x x ♣ J x opposite a 22-24 point two notrump opening.

This is a real tough one, but in standard American the best guess is to respond three hearts. Go into Blackwood if partner raises to four or jump to six diamonds if he rebids three notrump. Note that you have 11 high-card points so that even if partner only holds 22 the enemy can't hold more than one ace.

Blackhawk development nearing first permit

MARTINEZ — Blackhawk Ranch is a step closer to its first building permit, but the next move is up to its opponents.

Linda Moody of Amigos De Diablo temporarily discounted any new lawsuits against the proposed 4,200-acre Danville area project.

Preliminary plans for Phase One of the development were approved on a 4-0 Board of Supervisors vote Tuesday with Supervisor Warren Boggess abstaining.

Boggess, of Concord, missed last week's hearing.

Phase One calls for removing 943 acres from the previously approved Planned Unit district PUD of 4,200-acres and rezoning it as a separate PUD.

Only 206 homes will be built on 150 acres of the land. The balance is to be open space, some for the inhabitants and over 500 acres for Mt. Diablo State Park.

The board's approval means that Blackhawk's developers may proceed with Phase One unencumbered by lawsuit challenging the original rezoning three years ago.

That suit is now on appeal.

Opponents of the development could file a new lawsuit or seek to have the Phase One detachment and rezoning subjected to a referendum.

Mrs. Moody temporarily ruled out any lawsuit by Amigos or the Sierra Club in an interview Tuesday.

Blackhawk's developers, meanwhile, are looking at late summer as a target date for receiving their first building permit.

Prior to the board's action, Planning Director Anthony Dehaesus answered several comments on the project from last week's hearing.

All of the issues, except the possibility of Indian artifacts are covered in the environmental impact report, Dehaesus said.

He promised hearings during the final development plan studies on any need to impose conditions regarding any Indian artifacts found during grading.

A pair of archaeology students last week attacked the EIR's discussion of the Indians, saying there was evidence that Indians had lived on the Danville-area ranch and may have even buried their dead there.

After Tuesday's meeting, the students and Wayne Roberson of San Pablo, said they were satisfied with that condition.

Roberson of the American Indian Movement, was critical of the planning staff's handling of the Indian cultural artificats issue.

But he said Blackhawk's developers had been very cooperative and considerate in working with him.

Can that trash

May has been designated "Anti - Litter Month" throughout the state of California for the tenth consecutive year, according to the California Anti - Litter League.

The league sponsors the program, which encourages communities to hold clean-up events aimed at improving the environment.

Inaugurated in 1967 as an innovative way to encourage greater interest in the necessity for better litter control, Anti-Litter month is now observed throughout the state.

As far as the league is concerned, however, every month should be Anti-Litter Month.

As the number one state in the nation, California has gone through explosive population growth, accelerated economic development, and intense urbanization.

Because of this rapid growth, the league says there is a critical need for public awareness in the important task of keeping California clean and beautiful.

The league reports that it continues to cost Californians millions of dollars each year for litter pick-up throughout the state. These funds, the league notes, could be better spent on parks, recreation, schools, educational needs and public goods and services.

Though there are laws regulating litter, backed up by fines and penalties, laws which regulate the habits of people are successful only if people support them.

Votomatic gets Dublin High run

DUBLIN — Dublin High School students are the first school-age youngsters to ever use the modern Votomatic equipment being put into practice by the County Elections Division.

Votomatic equipment is being used this week as the Dublin students cast ballots in student body elections. Final elections are scheduled Friday with ballots then going to the County to card counting machines.

The Votomatic process has been used only one time previously in the valley — at the Livermore Municipal elections in March.

Thus, the Dublin preps will be getting a jump on their elders who will have a chance to use Votomatic in the primary elections June 8 — in casting their votes in the Zone 7, Amador and Pleasanton elections.

Votomatic works as follows:

As the voter enters the polling place, he is given a demonstration on the Votomatic Vote Recorder. Following the demonstration, the voter signs an application for ballot and is verified as a voter in that precinct.

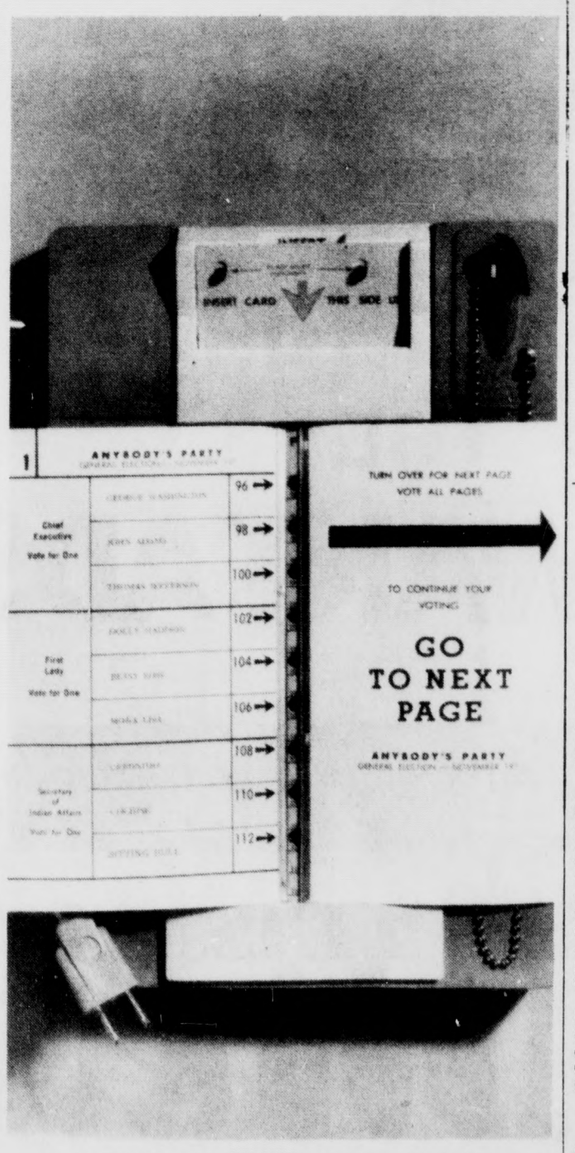
Upon completion of this verification, the voter is issued a punch card ballot and directed to a voting booth.

When in the both, he inserts his ballot card into the Votomatic Vote Recorder and commences voting (in this case for the students running for respective class and student body offices).

This is done by depressing the stylus in a hole opposite the name of his candidate. If he wishes to enter a write-in candidate, he merely writes the name on the Write-In Ballot Envelope provided.

Upon completion of voting, the voter may verify his votes by comparing the number punched with those opposite the candidate names on the ballot pagps. He places his ballot into the ballot envelope and leaves the voting booth.

And within a few hours, by Friday evening, Dublin students will know the outcome of their elections!



THE VOTOMATIC VOTE RECORDER

PTA's national promotion

For the first time, the national PTA (Parent - Teachers Association) based in Chicago is launching a nationwide advertising campaign.

The Bloom Agency of Dallas, Tex. has gotten 115 national magazines to contribute space for their bold black - and - white ads, which show nine case histories of actual PTA achievements in keeping a school open, feeding hungry children, getting a city traffic department to improve a school crossing, and other anecdotes.

Highlighted in each ad are the national PTA's newly established theme and symbol, both identifying the administration of Mrs. Carol Kimmel, national PTA president.

The theme, "Today's PTA," emphasizes the organization's involvement with the current issues and problems affecting the education and welfare of young people, while the symbol shows hands cupping the figure of a child who represents all children.

According to president Kimmel, "The public's image of the PTA is outdated! This campaign seeks to change that image ... to demonstrate that the "Today PTA" can and is doing something significant in communities across the country.

"By pointing out our accomplishments in terms of concrete examples, we not only hope to renew participation of present PTA members, but get new members involved so we can continue to be as effective."

The PTA is also hoping to use their ad material in free spots in newspapers, on billboards, on buses and subways and over radio and TV.

Amazing— budget is lovely

The East Bay Regional Park District is in the best financial shape in years.

General Manager Richard Trudeau said his optimistic forecast was "a bit amazing ... coming at this time when local governments are often facing budget deficits ... and after so many years of projected deficits" at EBRPD.

Capital projects, either carried over or projected, Trudeau said, total more than $3 million with much of the funding coming from grants.

By way of explanation of the healthy financial picture (financed by a tax of 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the district), Trudeau said, "Not only have economies been pursued, but at the same time, we have aggressively pursued ways in which to extend those tax funds..."

EBRPD is working with $22.6 million in planning for the 1976-77 fiscal year.

A budget hearing will take place Tuesday, May 11 in Concord.

Six spots open in Livermore

LIVERMORE — Six more Livermore Unified School District positions opened up when two resignations and four leaves of absence were approved by the school board Tuesday night.

Quitting are Greg Davidson, playground supervisor at Marylin Avenue School, and Marcia Hansen, playground supervisor at Fifth Street School.

Mrs. Hansen was replaced by the board with Mrs. Eleanor Kransky.

Four teachers are going on leave: Alexandra T. Benson, third and fourth grade teacher at Henry School; Mary Beth Fager, speech therapist; Dianne M. Foster, East Avenue School typing and physical education teacher, taking a maternity leave; and Jack Norton, reading specialist at Fifth Street School, on voluntary leave.
